BOY IDENTIFIES HIM

Shortly before the afternoon's session convened, John J. Thomas, Jr., 10-year-old boy of Colton, identified Northcott as the youth who tried to lure him from Pickering Park more than a year ago and from whom he escaped.

Young Northcott had just seated himself at the counsel table a few minutes before the afternoon session begaf when young Thomas entered and was led around to view the defendant.

After taking a good look at him young Thomas went out of the courtroom where he emphatically declared that Northcott is the youth who attempted to take him to his Wineville chicken ranch.

Two more experts, biochemists and paleontologists, are yet to be appointed by the court, according to the judge's order, who are to study the physical evidence of the (Continued on Page 2, Column 7) BOY IDENTIFIES HIM

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 4. 69—Whether the hanging of Mrs. Ada Bonner Lebouef and Dr. Thomas E. EXECUTIONER ORDERED

Meantime Sheriff Pecot began final preparations for the double hanging. He sent here for an exceptioner to spring the trap as he does not wish to officiate since he has become so well acquainted with Dr. Dreher and Mrs. Lebouef during their eighteen months' stay in the St. Mary Parish Jail.

While the attorneys were fighting their battle against the execution, other efforts were being made to persuade Gov. Long to reconsider his action in refusing commutation of the death sentence. Mrs. Dreher and two of her daughters drove to Baton Rouge to seek an audience with the Governor to make a personal plea but after waiting two hours, they returned to their Morgan City home.

Sheriff Pecot said tonight that he will not act "until the Supreme Court gets through unwinding its."

TREATY ON ITS WAY IN SENATE

He contended the correspondence of other nations explaining their interpretations of the treaty can have no bearing on the treaty because they merely deal with this question of self-defense. Furthermore, he argued that Becretary Kellogg has made clear America's position on self-defense in similar notes and speeches.

As for a demand upon this or any other nation to use force in punishing offending nations, Senator Borah declared there is no provision in the treaty for such a step. There are no sanctions in the pact, he argued, implied or otherwise.

Eaker has alight sore throat painted it with argyrol and gargled with aspirin dissolved in water. Otherwise he feels O.K.

Maj. Spats—Porgot to mention reason we left Metropolitan Airport so abruptly this morning. We did it because we feared fog might be rolling in. Picked up C-1 at 2:15 p.m. and started for Imperial, climbing to get over mountains.

Lieut. Quesada—Just refueled over Imperial. Too much fog on coast. Very rough. Capt. Eafer has just relieved Halverson. On first contact 2:50 p.m., food and supplies were taken on. Lieut. Halverson—Quesada relieved things might get worse. Clouds a high rate of speed. Believe they will cover the entire valley soon. Thank God they are high.

The smoother and more favorable spot I could find is Brawley, so we are circling at 3000 feet. I went nearly over to Imperial and lost about 6000 feet and trying my best to gain altitude. Engines seem to be running nicely now.

Turned ship over to Quesada at 3200 feet.

Capt. Eaker—7:26 p.m. Been up sixty hours. Understand we are soon passing present refueling endurance record held by Belgian flyers. Hope we last one more hour. Maj. Spats, Halverson and Hooe are sleeping. Quesada is flying and I am sitting in the door with one eye glued on the clock and the other on the engine instruments. This Southern California climate certainly chased us today. As a climax the clouds are coming into the valley now where it never rains. Stars are blotted out. Clouds are about 3506 feet as nearly as I can tell. We are at 2000 now. 3:34 p.m.—Quesada and I exchanged grins just now. Sixty one hours and we have hung up a new record but what a night to do it in. Got to pump a little gasoline so I will have something to fly on when I take the controls at 9 o'clock to begin my two-hour hitch. Refueling twice. Flew from nine to 11:15. Made contact at 10:50 for nine minutes. Took on 250 gallons of gas. (Remainder of the paragraph of the record too illegible to read.) Engine is running smoothly. Maj. Spats is, flying now. Quesada sleeping, Halverson and Hooe pumping gas. Wind has died down a little. We are at 2000 feet.

Lieut. Halverson—Pumping wing tanks full. About fifty gallons left in front fuselage tank and about thirty gallons used out of right wing tank since filled. This at, 11:40 p.m., January 3rd. Spatz got another drenching of gasoline when ship broke away. He had his rubber coat on but left his rubber trousers off. He is changing clothes now. It looked bad for a while but things are improving. It is very hazy, Hope Metropolitan Airport is clear tomorrow.

Today's work in getting refueling ship No. 1 to Imperial with un demonstrated the same high order of efficiency. There refueling today over Imperial by the ship piloted by Capt. Hoyt was done in very choppy air filled with treacherous air currents. We almost settled to the ground after getting our load but weathered the storm. The pilots of the refueling planes—Hoyt and Moon-their crews—Woodring and Strickland, Hopkins and Solier have functioned like well-oiled machines equipped with courageous hearts and strong minds. The ground personnel at Rockwell have continued to do their stuff thoroughly as well as the personnel at the Metropolitan Airport. Eaker, Hooe, and Quesads are

We tried to take advantage of the air currents, but the down currents equalized the upward ones. Engines are functioning nicely now. Altitude between 4000 and 5000. From 5:55 to 6:30 contact made at 6:15, last ten minutes. Took 170 gallons. Dropped message announcing plans for the day. They have not yet put out receipt panel. May have to drop another. STRAIN SHOWN arrival of the refueling No. 1, commanded by Capt. Ross Hoyt, and of half a dozen other planes carrying Capt. Elimendorf and all his assistants who have charge of the ground work, turned the Los Angeles field into something resembling a military camp. The haggard faces of these men whose rapid transfer of base from Rockwell Field to Imperial made possible the continuation of the flight after fog had driven the plane away from its original bases, gave every indication of the strain they have been under.

Gathering of all the ground crews and the refueling planes at the San Pernando Valley field will simplify greatly the situation and will give all hands an opportunity to catch up on their siesp. Reports late last night from the Question Mark inbyt, and of half a

"In some parts of the world slow movements have been in progress for long periods without, apparently, being accompanied by serious earthquakes. Portions of the Upper Baltic region are rising at the rate of about one foot each thirty years; and at the same time sections of Southern Denmark are sinking at the rate of one inch in twenty-five years. One of the world's best examples of slow upilit in the past is found in the region of the Grand Canyon of Colorado. Geologists explain the tremendous depth of the erosion in this great gash by the gradual rise of the region while the river cut its way. It is somewhat as if one pressed a block of wood upward against a saw moving at a fixed level."

official of Miss Booth's party pointed out that this course would veto the general's right to choose his successor, something to which his family has clung as an inalienable prerogative of the commander-inchief. The same commander-inchef. The same commander-inchef and his nomination of a successor would stand.

Another theory as to the purposes of Gen Booth's faction is that he intends to make a personal appearance at the high council meeting. Unless, however, reports of his illness have been exaggerated, such a dramatic move would be unlikely. One of his supporters, however, admitted that if the council sits long enough, the general might be sufficiently recovered to attend a meeting if he were summoned to Sunbury.

Box Warns Roosevelt of Arguments in Action Against Dangers Ahead

Declares Smith Forces Will Kill Party in South

Long Letter by House Whip Commerce Commission Plan Given Publicity

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4. (Exclusive)-"If the situation and forces which nominated Gov. Smith and controlled the campaign continue to dominate the Democratic party, Texas and the South will cease to be Democratic." Representative Box of the Second Texas District told Cov. Roosevelt of New York in a Box.

The communication is in response to a tentative suggestion of Democratic reorganization recently made by the new New York Governor who nominated Smith at Houston In his three-page communication to Roosevelt the Democratic whip of the House, whose position makes his comment especially significant, says that should the Smith elements continue in the Democratic saddle "the East will not be controled, the West will be permanently estranged and the party will break up, some of its voters going to the Republican party; others remaining with the organization and others becoming independents."

Box's letter breaks the general post-election silence of regular southern Democrats who followed Gov. Smith. He declares that the Democratic party should not remain a minority party, challenges Republican good faith in the campaign and calls for "a constructive handling of live political issues."

Prohibition, says the Box letter, is a serious issue because of failure of proper enforcement. The letter continues:

"Gov. Smith dealt frankty with the secretary Hoover's campulern with the secret of proper enforcement. The setter continues:

"Gov. Smith dealt frankly with it; Secretary Hoover's campaign was made to appeal to both sides. Gov. Smith's big minority came in part from Democrats who disagreed with him on this issue but preferred him to Secretary Hoover on account of other considerations and because of party attachment; but millions of good Democrats refused to support Gov. Smith. Their permanent loss to the party would ruin it."

Box demands a definition of the party's stand on immigration restriction and the tariff. His letter was a sensation among the Democrats on Capitol Hill. to release her grip after she had been jerked vertically more than 150 feet above the gorge of Crooked

FLOODS RAGING IN ROME

Five Hundred Homeless as Result of Violent Storm;

Northern Italy in Grip of Gales

Floome, Jan. 4. (Exclusive)—Five hundred people are homeless in Rome alone as a result of the prolonged period of floods, violent gales and snowstorms which are sweeping Italy from the Alps to Sicily. Heavy prolonged rains, coupled with melting snows in the Appennines have sent the Thorac ing their municipal authorities of both cities to provide shelter for the menaced people, many of whom were rescued from the danger by firemen and military engineers who are working day and night salvaging property and constructing pontoon bridges.

With the waters of the Tiber at their entire grain sowings detailed the vaters continuing to rise, the legislation was given three legislation, was given three legislations, which to file a minority report.

Opponents are hopeful of repeating the measure was sent back to committee by a vote of 200 to 179, but proponents and observers feel the votes a case at hand this time to put the bill through. It is pointed out, for one thing, that the eighteen Pennsylvania clegation last year were in themselves in or the measure was sent back to committee by a vote of 200 to 179, but proponents and observers feel the veels was sent back to committee by a vote of 200 to 179, but the bill through. It is declared. STORMS CAUSE HAVOC Snowstorms and gales at the same time are causing havoc in Northern Italy, stopping trains and electric stations. The Orient Express from Paris to the Balkans arriving in Venice today was thirty-one hours late, while along the Northern Dalmatian coast even motor traffic is held up. Milan, Turin, Genoa and Piedmont generally, including the Italian Riviera are being swept by snow gales.

In the south heavy rainfall continuous, some districts having and many are believed to be lost.

LOST IN ALPS

Several accidents and one death avairation of the classing water infiltrations have caused the collapse of several buildings in Naples.

Milan reports tonight say that nearly the entire section of Northern Italy is covered with between two and three feet of snow, with resultant grave damage. Lives have been lost among members of the ski clubs. One group in the Ligurian Alps has not been heard from for three days. Along the coasts of Italy scores of fishing barks are still missing in the gales, and many are believed to be lost.

SAN BERNARDINO, Jan. 4.
Henry P. Warren, local rancher, is on parole and figuratively tied to his wife's apron strings.
Warren, on parole on a liquor charge, was arrested in a moon-shine raid last week at a foot-hill ranch. Called before the court to explain why his parole should not be revoked, he maintained emphatically that he was at the ranch on business and knew nothing of the liquor seized in the raid.

Superior Judge Leonard, while indicating that he regarded Warren's story as weak, OUTDOORS OR IN? COMMY LOUGHRAN wants to come to Southern California. Armand Emanuel wants to fight him. And Promoter Jack Doyle wants to stage the match—but not in the ball park. That is the angle to the proposed bout between the two verest heavyweights in the ring today—the monkey wrench that is holding up the fracas. With memories of the Jackle Fields-Sammy Baker deficit still fresh in mind Doyle prefers to put the match inside the Olympic.

The gamble is smaller. The fighters may not make as much money, but it's a cinch the promoter can't lose.

And after putting about ten times as much in the hand of Baker as the fighting sergeant was able to draw through the gate at Wrigley Field Mr. Doyle isn't anxious to dabble in the guarantee market again.

The percentage angle sounds better to him. And then Mr.

his entry from Doyle would prefer to have young Emanuel sock somebody on M e d f o r d , the chin good and hard before talking outdoors.

The Jewish lawyer hit Wild Bill Cox hard enough for the referee to stop the fight, but Mr. Doyle would like to see him repeat it on the lower maxillary of some gent like Tom Patrick, for example. Patrick beat Joe Woods all over the place at the Olympic, nearly knocked him out as a matter of fact.

And Mr. Doyle feels that a hefty Emanuel sock on the Patrick chin would make the Emanuel-Loughran match stand up better. He would then listen to the outdoor warble.

I can't imagine that young Mr. Emanuel would object to cracking Tom there, so if that is the way Mr. Doyle feels about the matter, why not put on the match?

However, as a drawing card Loughran should certainly be worth something as the unbeaten light-heavyweight champion.

He stands almost in the same shoes as did Gene Tunney a few years ago. And since engaging the heavyweights he has proved more than a match for all he has met.

Emanuel, if anything, is only a shade behind him.

The match looks hot for a February shot-just as Godfrey and Uzcudun did a year ago.

Mr. Rice says Mohler told him he is entering Southern Californi next fall because he believes Howard Jones is not only the best football coach but the best molder of men he knows anything about.

That is quite a tribute from any high-school kid, and seems to prove that the kids really do some thinking of their own these days.

Mastro is being paid a high compilment by being quoted as an even-money bet against the high-powered Francis.

Francis is a well-seasoned fighter, while Mastro still shows the pin feathers of youth. The Chicagoan has not been away from his mother's apron strings but twice in his life. These are his two trips to California.

It was indicated yesterday the Francis may scale more for Mastro than he did for either Nationalista or Charley Pinto. He weighed 119 pounds both times.

Mastro is getting a little bigger. He is a full-fledged 122-pounder and deam' true to the contract of the pic Club to accept a match within three weeks to box the winner of

PEREGRINA TONIGHT Canadian Title

Determined to put an end to the seldom-broken list of Joe Peregrina's knockout victories. Speed Cop Baker, who has never had the fatal "ten" counted over him, will meet the Mexican middleweight favorite in tonight's chief battle at the Main Street Athletic Club.

The Mexican is favored over the mauling motorcyclist, but the latter has beaten many of the same fighters who have been finished by Peregrina. In addition. Baker fought a draw with Bobby Near, who scored a decision over Peregrina at the Olympic Auditorium a few months ago.

The complete card:
Joe Peregrina vs. Speed Cop Baker, 160 pounds.
Joe Herrera vs. Boilermaker Jim Jones, 147 pounds.
Art Peralta vs. Jimmy Valenti, 180 pounds.
Leonard Allen vs. Luis Reves. 138 (Frenchy) Belanger regained the Canadian flyweight boxing cham-pionship here tonight when he defeated Steve Rocco, the titleholder, in a fast ten-round bout. Both men are residents of Toronto, and Belanger once was recognized by the National Boxing Association as flyweight champion of the world.

Husky Kansan Picked to Win Over Jones in Final Mat Bout at Olympic Wednesday

Dick Daviscourt, the big rough-and-tough Kansan, has been established as a favorite to beat Paul Jones, the sensational Texan when they clash at the Olympic Wednesday night in the feature event of Promoter Lou Daro's opening mat card of the 1929 seasor The 220-pounder, whose head-locks have been declared as strong and as punishing as any used by (Strangler) Lewis, and who is now working on a new and more devastating grip, appeared to have had the best of the argument when he and Jones battled an hour to a draw here two weeks ago, in the opinion of mat experts. His showing against the Texan at that time has made him a favorite for this match. Daviscourt is confident of a victory Wednesday night. He believes he will pin Jones two straight falls in less than an hour's time, and Joe Stecher, former champion, who is scheduled to meet the winner of this bout, just as quickly.

give the U.S.C. outfif a busy evening.

Coach Calland intends to start the same squad he opened up with against the Pacific Coast Club last Thursday, which was Nibley and Capo, forwards, Mortensen, center, and Capt. Thomas and Lehners, guards. The Trojans showed surprising power against the strong P.C.C. quintet, winning by a 43-to-20 score over the 1923 Southern California A.A.U. champions. Calland also intends to use several of his capable substitutes because tonight's game will be the Trojans' final appearance before they begin their Coast Conference season by engaging the California Bears at the Olympic next Priday and Saturday.

The starting L.A.A.C. line-up will probably find Alman and Lewis, forwards, Jones, center, and Parker and McBurney, guards. Coach Joseph has shifted Tommy Lewis, a guard on last year's championship U.S.C. team, up to a forward position in an effort to develop a scoring combination. In Maury Parker and McBurney the Mercuries have a pair of brilliant guards who should be able to give the Trojan offense pienty of trouble.

day he won the championship from Jess Willard in 1919 at Toledo, Jack was wretchedly handled and every since then has shown nervousness and excitement in his corner. Naturally he has been unable to do his best under those conditions. Still he knocked out Jack Sharkey when Sharkey, for two rounds, was a truly great fighter, and twice he stayed ten rounds with Tunney. "Someone with foresight in Dempsey's corner at Chicago might have won the title back for him when Tunney went down in the seventh round. Before the bout ever started, one man should have told Dempsey: When Tunney goes down, listen for my voice, look at me and do only as I say."
"If that had happened, Dempsey would have been sent to a neutral corner as Tunney was floored. He could have rested there instead of being the center of one of the most exciting moments in ring history. When the referee's count reached eight or nine Jack would have been fresh and ready to finish the fight.

eight or nine Jack would have been fresh and ready to finish the fight.

"Dempsey never has had the benefit of such coaching. His seconds lost the smelling salts on him during the Firpo fight. He even stepped over Willard once to get to a corner after knocking him down. There always has been an uproar behind him.

"No one can tell, of course, what Tunney would have done at Chicago if the count over him in the seventh round had been only nine. He might have gotten up all right and he might not. There again Dempsey was the victim.

"I was the originator of the rule that said a boxer, upon scoring a knockdown must retire to a neutral corner, the rule was picked up by the Illinois State Athletic Commission and incorporated in its code. Provision for the count was clear, however, and the referee's duty, after seeing that the boxer on his feet had retired properly, was to pick up the time keeper's count, not start all over again."

Hollywooders Bow to Utah

Brigham Young University basketball five won a close 49-44 game from the Hollywood Athletic Club last night at the Circle H pavilion. Hollywood grabbed the lead at the start of the second half and with three minutes to play had the game practically won. However, Brinley and Magalby, Utah stars, went on a goal-shooting spree and when the smoke of battle had cleared away, the Movie City team had lost.

Chuck Kearney as many starred

Chuck Kearney as usual starred for Hollywood, playing a strong de-fensive game as well as taking highfensive game as well as taking highpoint honors with 25 points to his credit. Gene Dorsey at guard and Goodson at center also played well.
Brinley led the Utah scoring, gathering in 21 points. Magalby was second, shooting 9 digits. The line-ups:

CO-ED STYLE SHOW REVEALS WHAT THEY'LL WEAR What the well-dressed campus co-ed will and does wear in 1929 was presented yesterday afternoon at the University of California at Los Angeles, when approximately aixty co-eds produced the Associated Students' annual fashion show for women students only at 1 p.m. in "illapaugh Hall auditorium. The traditional no man allowed sign was hung outside the auditorium and members of the Women's Sophomore Service Society, under the direction of Marion Mabee, enforced the rule.

The 1929 edition of the U.C.L.A. fashion show was staged in the form of a play skit, with the scene laid in a sorority house and all of the models as members. Virginia Rowe played the role of maid and displayed a large "fashion clock," the hands of which showed a time corresponding with the attire worn by the models. The hands of the clock first were turned to an early morning hour, and the sorority girls turned out in pajamas, negligee and even an old-fashioned woolen night-gown.

MEETING-AND PARTING

This accial statistics of the city of Reno show a total of 1120 divorces last year. Naturally this is a world record if based upon the community population. But Reno is not merely a homewrecker. The town is also a homemaker. In the same year Reno had a total of 3404 weddings—which is again believed to be a record when it is realized that the town has a population of less than 15,000. But it turns out that most of the matings and the heavy end of the partings are because of the nearly may the right of individual ownership.

Lonsequently they jump into the old bus and step on the gas when they have any marrying to be done or splitting to be attempted. They just steer for Reno and let it go at that

PAN-AMERICAN PEACE

In addition to providing a means of stopping the threatened war between Bolivia and Paraguay, the Pan-American Conference on Arbitration and Conciliation has drawn up two treaties, which, if accepted by the various governments represented, will make war between any American countries highly improbable, if not impossible. For agreements of such importance, the conference has worked at record speed, having been in session less than a month, interrupted by the Christmas holidays; but the work is none the less sound, because based on existing treaties which have proved their value. It has already been pointed out that it was a piece of sheer luck that this conference assembled in time to stop Bolivian-Paraguayan hostilities, since no American mediatory body existed which could have stepped into the breach and much valuable time might have been wasted in assembling the machinery of conciliation. The League of Nations alone might have been ineffective, though undoubtedly it was a factor; but the major work for peace undoubtedly was done by the conference, and it is the conference and not the League which appoints the nine judges to settle the matter.

The multilateral arbitration pact makes arbitration mandatory between the signatories in all controversies not involving the domestic jurisdiction of states or not involving third parties. The group grew until now as many as twenty get together every Wednesday—news writers, artists, fictionists and a few business and professional men who can stand that sort of company—and nearly every day half a dozen or more meet at the table set aside for Scotch, so far as liquid measure is concerned — no, non, nevaire! The group has taken the name of the Scotch Treat Club because every man present has to pay for his own lunch, but is always hoping some one else will.

CONDUCTOR on the Franklinavenue line seems to deserve a lal medal for considerateness. On special medal for considerateness. On his early-morning runs he gathers up all the newspapers left in seats by passengers, and passes them around to other passengers who have none.

He didn't get his training as a barber-shop porter, either. We know, for we asked him.

But, then, it takes a little more than ordinary courtesy to keep passengers on the Franklin-avenue line smiling, for sometimes it's a long time between cars.

Christmas - tree idea continues to grow as it has grown since Altadena started it with its beautiful row of deodars, the annual sacrifice of millions of young pines and cedars and deodars scon will end. There were so many outdoor Christmas trees in Southern California this winter that shoppers who were late in buying lights for them found lights hard to procure, many of the stores being sold out. And in Los Angeles alone tens of thousands of living Christmas trees were used indoors—little potted trees, which now are being set out in gardens to grow into permanent blessings.

So sincere is the outdoor Christmastree movement, an architect tells us, that many people planning new homes now want to have patios in which, comparatively sheltered, they can have their outdoor Christmas treet in privacy, and do away with the indoor trees altogether. "A client now planning to build in Hollywood," he said, "will have a completely inclosed patio in which there will be a hig outdoor fireplace. The landscaping calls for a deodar close beside that fireplace. That patio will be the scene of pleasant parties many a winter evening, but the deodar is especially intended for the family Christmas tree,"

The Scotch Treat Club isn't the sort you may think it is. On the contrary, it is quite different from a country club. It isn't really a club, but has cannot understand why this great State of California which is always boosting and advertising by every honocrable method available, should choose to drop that incalculable amount of absolutely free advertising produced by California's automobile license plates, whose high serial numbers attract attention and comment all over the United States and foreign countries where they travel. The numbers running past the 2,000,00 mark draw comment and California talk everywhere. What, ever small coterie of persona who absandoned our present 1925 license (with the full word "California" causing much free advertising everywhere) in favor of aping New York State, by an absolute copy of their license plates, sure hit California a joint license plates, sure hit California a government attempted to run absolute copy of their license plates, sure hit California a joint license plates, sure hit California a All-Reaching Radio

Our good friend, Walt Mason, the best beloved poet in America, is a bit hard of hearing, but he can hear a phonograph or a telephone perfectly, and probably has the finest lot of phonograph records that can be found in any private home in Callfornia. That, however, is merely incidental. We were reminded of it the other day when a Hollywood man who builds radios dropped in to see us. unusually happy. "There's a deaf old lady out our way who has heard no melody or any of this old world's joy for years," he mid. "Her family got the idea that a special radio might be made which she could hear, one with a special attachment for deaf people. We rigged the thing up and asked her to try it. She did, hopelessly, and we weren't so hopeful ourselves. But in a second such a look of delight illumined her face as brought tears to the eyes of every member of her family, and one hardboiled radio man, too. "Ah, that is progress! Now if they could only rig up some radio attachment which would render those who don't want to listen temporarily deaf this would be an almost perfect world.

ANAHEIM, Dec. 31.—ITo the Editor of The Times: I Tour recent editorial on the prize paid by Mr. Durant for the best plant to enforce prohibition does not seem to like entirely with the vicws of Mr. Doran, the chief of the enforcement boreau. For instance, about the only idea advanced by Mr. Durant's prize winner was that if they could stop the flow of alcohol from the manufacturers then most of the manufacturers then most of the manufacturers then most of the instance, about the lieu of the manufacturers then most of the bootlegging would cease. Mr. Doran's reply to this was that it is very thing was stopped a year or two ago.

Life of Jolly Death Ends

The sad life of Jolly Death has ended. The man with one of the strangest names in the world recently died at his home in Fulham, Eng. Death was plaqued all during his life by the peculiarity of his surname. the bottom when I made an investigation tour with a welfare worker.

As I was standing close by the commissary desk a phone call came in from a mother of a family with six children. At the invitation of the welfare worker who was given the task of relieving this woman's needs, I accompanied her to the home of this needy family.

The home proved to be a small frame house containing but two small rooms, constructed of boards without plaster. The larger room had two beds and no chairs were to be found in the house. In the next room a kerosene lamp sat on a homemade table which was not large enough for two people, yet grouped about it there were six small children reaching up and eating red kidney beans, the only food we could find in the house. Those kiddles ranged in age from 2 to 8.

The well-filled basket was gratefully accepted by this faithful mother and with a smille of gladness she hastily unpacked the edibles, realizing that her children could now have a substantial meal; the first for a long time by the way, since the father is out of work. This is but one instance. I am told that there are many destitute families being similarly taken care of.

INCOGNITO IS AT LOEW'S "Woman of Affairs" Offers Garbo as "Green-Hattish" Heroine; Stage Act Good

ARLEN NOVEL

BY EDWIN SCHALLERT Diana Merrick—or Iris March. Or as Shakespeare said "What's in name?" You may recognize Diana of "A Woman of Affairs" as he Iris of "The Green Hat." In-"A Woman of Affairs" is at Loew's State Theater. It is a rather good picture . . . directed with a mice restraint, by Clarence Brown, and acceptably acted by Greta Garbo, Jack Gilbert and others.

Miss Garbo has the dominant role. She is the lady who loved internationally if not wisely. You could hardly identify her as anyone but the heroine of a certain famous Michael Arlen novel, which was adapted to the stage.

As entertainment, "A Woman of Affairs" lags a little. The closing portion seems especially slow. The film as a whole lacks in the sensationalism that might be anticipated. While it follows very literally the stage scenes of "The Green Hat," there is a certain verve lacking partly this is due perhaps to a different motivation.

Woman of Affairs" to some attention, especially from those who like rather adult productions.

The stage act at Loew's is richly pictorial in its dancing numbers—one of the best in recent weeks. The tom-tom number is exceedingly clever, and the waltz idea is attractively expressed. Some fine solo acrobatic dances prove a hit, as do the eccentric stunts of a couple of supposedly bibulous gentlemen. Cene Morgan is master of ceremonies, and Jesse Stafford conducts the orchestra. Helen Hughes, Roy Smoot, Mary Miles and Lucille Iverson, among others, sing and Texposicions.

That is "Homesick," Fox Pilms comedy featuring Sammy Cohen, the beak-nosed comedian with the curly hair, who romps through his pictures like a sallor on shore leave. "Homesick" came to the Boulevard Theater yesterday along with a new stage program presided over by Lynn Cowan.

The picture opens with a scene showing two servants in a so-called aristocratic home having a fight. The maid biffs the butler in the jaw and he retailates with a like blow. They slip on a few rugs, fall down once or twice and then, suddenly, as their employers move in sight, calm down.

It seems that the butler is jealous because the maid has been carrying on a romance, via correspondence, with a heavy suitor in the East, none other than Sammy Cohen

This opening scene is supposed to furnish the key to the ensuing action. Sammy in New York makes a desperate effort to get to California to see his matrimony-by-mail sweetheart. He plays poker valiantly to get the necessary train fare. He enters a transcontinental bicycle race.

The picture is plentifully sprinkled with comedy gags. Very probably the story was written around the gags. Most of them are the old sure-fire ones. For example, there is the ladder scene. Sammy climbs a ladder in escaping from a predatory friend. The ladder is tipped out the window and Sammy balances precarlously on the end that teeters over one of New York's busiest thoroughfares.

He doesn't fall, although there are moments when one wishes he would. While the above mentioned isn't one of them. there are, however, some really funny scenes between Sammy and Harry Sweet, who plays Jannings, it seems, is incapable of giving anything but a distinguished performance. As Spengler, the German barkeep, who becomes a bootlegger, he is a pathetic figure in the hands of adverse fate. "Sins of the Fathers" comes as a disappointment after the sweeping, magnificent "The Patriot," although it is quite within the bounds of probability that it will prove a more successful picture with film fans as a whole.

Several of the girls who appeared in the previous Music Box offering, two years ago, are adorning the present show, recognizing in the ensemble of Hollywood's only musical show an opportunity to build up a reputation and a following in the same way that Billie Dove, Mae Murray, Jane Winton and many others did in New York. This fact has made it easier for Lupino Lane to assemble a chorus measuring up to the slogan, "Pick of the world in girls."

Another of the Music Box's unusual midnight matinees is scheduled for late this evening, with several stars to be informally introduced.

Changes and improvements are constantly being made in the sketches, dances and even the cast of the revue, so that a person who was present at the opening would find, upon seeing it again, a number of new features to amuse and delight him. peared in the previous Music Box the added advantage of being offered by a group of players who derive a wealth of enjoyment from appearing in dramas of this type. The colored Lafayette Players, down to the last member of the company, give their best to "The Gorilla."

Laura Bowman, character actress with the Lafayette troupe, who carried off principal honors last week in "Queen High," appears in "The Gorilla" as Simmons, the newspaper reporter—a role heretofore essayed by male members of casts.

That painfully dumb pair of detectives, Mulligan and Garrity, are brought to the Lincoln stage by Lawrence Criner and Monte Hawley. As Mulligan, Criner gives an excellent performance in spite of the fact that this marks his first appearance in a straight comedy role. Hawley's work is equally good.

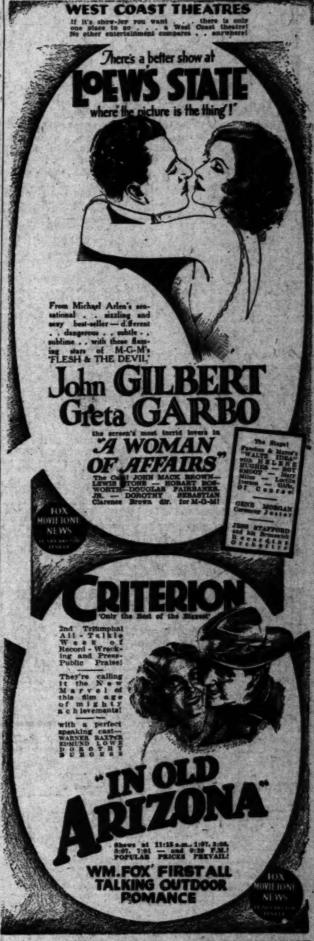

Evelyn Preer plays Edith, the only other woman in the cast besides Laura Bowman. Edward Thompson offers a good performance, and others in the cast of "The Gorilla" are Charles Olden, Sidney Kirkpatrick and Arthur Ray.

Mal St. Clair Directs Lloyd ROLE AT PARAMOUNT

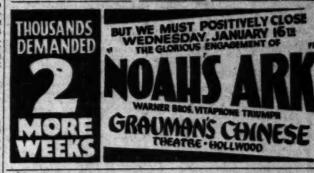

Kay Bryant, young screen player, had her plans all made for a New Year's visit to her mother in Chicago, when a call from Paramount studios announced the favorable result of a voice test previously made, and summoned her to begin rehearsals as one of Clara Bow's girl friends in "The Wild Party," to be directed by Dorothy Arzner.

Miss Bryant has appeared in a number of pictures for Fox, where she made her talkie under John Pord's direction in "Napoleon's Bariber." The Clara Bow picture is ner first work for Paramount.

PLAYING IN PAIR
Jane Winton is at present playing in two pictures, "The Bridge of San Luis Rey" at M.-G.-M. and "The Haunted Lady," at Universal.

A CONTROL OF THE PROPERTY OF THE PROPE

Special efforts will be made to apprehend a gang of petty thieves who have been breaking into public school buildings and stealing money and articles of small value. Sheriff Traeger announced yesterday.

The latest burglary reported is that of the Belvedere Junior High School at Brooklyn avenue and a thermometer were taken. The principal of the Humphrey-avenue school also reported that a thief stole $3. in cash, several police whistles and candy from teachers' desks.
